RESEARCH/DEVELOPMENT GRANTS ATTRACTED

During the period I served as Associate Professor I was privileged to be a key member of the Fisheries Crime Working Group (FCWG) that developed the initial concept and sourced for a grant of EUR 350,000 from the Royal Norwegian Ministry of Trade Agriculture and Fisheries, The Nordic Council of Ministers and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) to set up the Fisheries Crime Law Enforcement Academy (FCLEA) based at the University of Nairobi, School of Law at Parklands (UON) and the Nelson Mandela University (NMU). The grant was awarded jointly to the UON and NMU following a proposal by the FCWG's sub project on Capacity Building and Awareness Raising (FCWG CAPproject) which was set up on 23rd August 2016 following a meeting at the Centre for the Law in Action in Port Elizabeth, South Africa.

FCWG's objective was to develop strategies of how to address the menace of fisheries crime which had depleted marine resources in the maritime zones of most coastal states. FCLEA was to offer short training programs to law enforcement officers on the investigation of maritime crimes including the collection, preservation and presentation of evidence in court. The pilot project was to be at the NMU with chapters in East Africa and Indonesia. I persuaded the team to locate the East African chapter in Kenya at the UON.

Subsequently (on 23rd and 24th November 2016) the FCWG coordinated the State Department for Fisheries and the Blue Economy),the University of Nairobi and the Centre for Law in Action (FishForce Academy) at the NMU to host a High Level Ministerial Conference on the Establishment of FCLEA Serena Hotel, Mombasa. The conference was funded by Norwegian Overseas Development Agency (NORAD) , the University of Nairobi and the State Department for Fisheries and the Blue Economy. The Academy has since been established following the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the UON and the NMU. The first group of UON lecturers (together with officers from the State Department of Fisheries, The Kenya Navy, the Kenya Coast Guard Service) is scheduled to travel to NMU in 24th February 2019 to 4th March 2019 to be trained on how to conduct the short term courses to be mounted by the UON in July 2019.
